

The graph below shows the percentage of patients at Immanuel St. Joseph's receiving all recommended cares (referred to as a "bundle") to prevent Ventilator Associated Pneumonia (VAP). VAP is an airway infection that developed more than 48 hours after a breathing tube was inserted. It is the leading cause of death among hospital-acquired infections.

This graph shows the number of patients at Immanuel St. Joseph's who acquired Ventilator Associated Pneumonia (VAP). VAP is an airway infection that developed more than 48 hours after a breathing tube was inserted. It is the leading cause of death among hospital-acquired infections.

